The Wagler Story

Once upon a time Alfred & Josephine Wagler had a wood shop where lots of furniture & yard decorations were made. Over the years, their son Delmer mastered the craft of woodworking. Delmer & Sharon made their own outdoor decorations & branched out into shelving & other interior decorations. Over these years, their son Curt mastered the craft as well. Together with his wife Lori, they have blossomed into a wide range of items such as hunting calls, plaques & bases, furniture, cabinetry, doweling, carvings, taxidermy mounts, millwork, & yardsticks to name a few. During Curt & Lori's years of woodworking, there are three future woodworkers, some already learning the craft.

In May of 2011, American Anatomical Corporation, was purchased. This company was integrated into the current plastics area featuring anatomy models for teaching around the world.
